Natural Health and Cleaning Products

*"I've had a serious skin condition on my face for several years.
I've tried numerous and very expensive treatments—and nothing's worked.
I heard good things about the EM® products, so I thought I'd try their moisturizing lotion.
Within three days, my facial blemishes totally cleared up. It was nothing short of miraculous!
Please check these EM® products out—they really are wonderful!"*

The widespread use of antibacterial cleaners and health care products has come under closer scrutiny in recent years. These antibiotic (meaning "against life") products are designed to destroy all bacteria, whether they are beneficial or harmful. The healthy and beneficial microflora are what sustain biodiversity in our environments. This antiseptic approach of destroying all bacterial life often makes a bad situation worse by attempting to treat the symptoms rather than alleviating the cause.

Using all-natural probiotic (meaning "for life") cleaning and healthcare products allow for the microbial diversity to form alliances, which restrict and suppress the growth of the so-called "bad bugs". This allows for a healthy defense system to refresh and revitalize their environment. EM® is designed to build strong probiotic alliances to form a healthy immune system for the soil, plants, animals, and humans. For creating a clean and healthy environment, we like to say "Nature Does It Best!"

ProEM•1® Dietary Supplement is the first probiotic health product on the market to contain phototropic bacteria, a group of beneficial microorganisms known to break down toxic substances and promote the healthy restoration of intestinal microflora. ProEM•1® is specially formulated for human consumption—made with the EM•1® ingredients, honey, and aloe vera gels to enhance the taste and strengthen its natural cleansing benefits.

EM•X® Antioxidant Beverage utilizes Dr. Teruo Higa's EM Technology® to produce what some doctors have called "the very best thing that could happen to people's health." Since 1996, when EM•X® was first introduced, it has been recommended by doctors for a broad variety of ailments – from asthma to allergies to breast cancer – demonstrating exceptional antioxidant health benefits. EM•X® has been thoroughly doctor tested and is highly recommended in over 50 countries.

BioEMSan Natural Health Products. This is a company based in Austria that is committed to providing the very healthiest ingredients from controlled biological cultivation, wild flowers, and other natural resources—including herbs that have been fermented with EM•1®, as well as EM•X® antioxidants, EM® ceramic powders, and EM® salts.
